Day - 4 tasks

1. Props :

In React props are used to pass data from one Component to another usually from a parent to a child Component.

They make Components reusable and dynamic props are read-Only, which helps maintain a unidirectional data flow in the application.

React functional components:

In functional components, props allow components to receive input and display dynamic content based on the input